THE CHRISTMAS SPIRIT VS. THE WAR SPIRIT

Reference has been made in these pages to the check laterposed by Japan to the carrying of Christmas round the world. And this disturbance to the spread of our condensal civilization makes the disturbance to the spread of our Occidental civilization makes the Christman of 1859, different from any that has preceeded It since the Reformation, and, indeed, since the English and Spanish and Portuguese and Dutch captains and sea-syeers started out to subdue outlying nations, and bring tham into subjection to the conquering cross and the habits of trade. They thought they had a mission to lorce their ideas upon the poor souls of the earth and make them happy—lawfully it might be, but unlawfully if it must be; and for centuries, asy at least since the ravaging Turk if it must be; and for centuries, ay at least since the rawaging Turk was turned back at Vienna, they have had no doubt of the authenticity of their mission. But here mow are coming other nations, also with big guns and armored ships, more civilized than the Turks, and by millions nore numerous, who are proposing to take a strong hand in the game, and with ideas of life as different from ours as ours are from those of the sncient Egyptians.

Long years ago this holy time, My little one—my all to me— Sal robed in white apon my ko And heard the merry Christmas "Tali me, my lista golden-head, ff Santa Claus should come to-ei What shall ha briog my baby hri What treasure tor my boy?" I said

And then he named this little toy,
While in his round and mourate
There came a look of sweet surp
That spake his quiet, trustful joy.

And as ha lisped his evening prayer Ha asked the boos with childleh Thes toddling to the chimney-pla Ha hung this little stocking there.

That night, while lengthening shado I saw the white lengthening shado With singing to our lowly home And kiss my darling as he alept. They must have beard his little pray For in the morn, with represes He toddled to the chimnsy-place and found this little treasure there.

And found this title treasure there.
They cama equit one Christman-tida,
That angel host, so fair and white;
And, singing all that glorious 'aight,
They lered my darling from my aids.
A little sock, a little toy,
A little lock of golden bair.
The Christman fusic on the air,
A watching for my baby boy!

But if again that angel train
And golden-head come back for me,
To bear me to Eternity.

onesiand thing cuttons in that it makes to many people feel young. It is the one season of the year when overybody feels that that year dismiss abstrates thoughts, put dignify saide, forget the worries of the world, and, for a time return to their youth. It always seems a pity that mee try to conceal this feeling so often at Christmas. Only a few men are cynable of being gracefully caught in the act of unaking a miniature trsin of garge go over the carpet. making a ministure train of cars go over the carpet. Catch them at it a night or two hefore Christman, and nine out of every ten will instantly get up from the carpet, brush the dust from the kness of their trousers—for dust will get of the carpets of the best-regulated homes—and inserts. nomes—and immediately begin to apologize. I have often wondered why men resent being caught in this way. But a woman feels d!" ferently, and it is a blessed thir that alse does.

well bred doll to be completed. All this makes a woman feel young hagain, and why should it not? The good Lord knows we have crough in this world to make us grow old: why not have a kew things to make us feel young? And nothing brings this feeling with such perfection as the full and keen enjoyment of Christmas and the top of dreas dolls. But even then there is always some child whom we can make happy at Christmas lide, and the very tact haw-the betavoing happiness maked a woman feel young. For Christmas makes us happy and young just in proportion is we enjoy it with others and make them happy. A sofish happiness, an enjoyment of our plenatures alone, is no happiness at all Itan like knasing the air. The real-delight of Christmas, that delight which brings the color to the cheek and the sparked to the eye, and the feeling of Joy to the heart, which nothing else in the world gain said the sparse to the eye, and the feeling of joy to the heart, which nothing else in the world can bring, is the delight of sharing the happiness of the day with someone else, sud making some other per-son feel as happy as we do our-selves. It is in this that the real easence of Christmas happiness lies.
